Numb. 5180

The Daily Courant.

Thurſday, May 29. 1718.

From the Paris Gazette, dated June 4.

Madrid, May 17.

ON the 6th Inſtant at ſix in the Evening, the King and the Queen, with the Prince of Aſturias, went to the Church of our Lady d'Atocha, to return God Thanks for the Queen's Recovery of her Lying-in, and the Re-eſtabliſhment of the King's Health. The People followed their Majeſties with great Acclamations of Joy, and at their Return, they found the Streets illuminated, and in the Grand Place, there were 1500 Flambeau's of white Wax. The ſame Night there was a great Firework before the Palace, with Maſquerades and other Diverſiſements prepar'd by the Corrigidor, Don Franciſco Antonio de Salcedo. Yeſterday after Dinner, the King, the Queen, and the Prince, departed from hence to go to Balſain, and lay that Night at Guadarrama. On the 15th, the Royal Academy eſtabliſh'd lately for perfecting the Spaniſh Tongue, complimented the King upon the Birth of the Infanta, by a Deputation of four of their Body, who kiſs'd his Majeſty's Hand.

Genoa, May 14. A Body of German Troops of 3 or 4000 Men, among whom ſome Regiments of Dragoons, encamp'd the 6th of this Month upon the Frontiers of this State. Parties were detach'd out to diſcover their Motions, who fortified the Paſſes in the Mountains. It appear'd that they ſought for ſome Defile that was not retrench'd; but they retir'd after a few Day's Time, without committing any Act of Hoſtility. Upon this Advice, a Corſican Regiment arrived a few Days ago, was commanded out to reinforce the Troops which guard the Paſſages, and a Convoy of 200 Mules are ſent to carry them Ammunition and Proviſions.

London, May 29.

Yeſterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

From the Amſt. Gazette, dated June 3.

Paſſarowitz, May 12. Count Virmond, who arriv'd here the 9th, had that Day a Conference with Baron Dahlman, and return'd on board his Ship, where he lodg'd that and the next Night. On the 11th, he made his publick Entry into this Town, which was very magnificent. Towards the Evening, Sir Robert Sutton and Count Colyers made him a Viſit, and Count Dahlman was at his Houſe at the ſame time, where the Ambaſſadours Mediators put into the Hands of the Imperial Ambaſſadours the full Powers of the Ottoman Ambaſſadours, which are now tranſlating. The Houſe for holding the Conferences being not yet built, the Emperour's Miniſters for forwarding the Negociations have propos'd to thoſe of the Porte, to hold the Congreſs in a Tent over-againſt the Quarters of the Imperial Ambaſſy, ſo that 'tis hoped the Congreſs will be ſpeedily opened. This Day the Chevalier Ruzzini the Venetian Ambaſſadour, has made his publick Entry, which was alſo very magnificent; and he was ſplendidly entertain'd at Dinner by Count Virmond, who, as alſo Baron Dahlman, have made Viſits to the Miniſters Mediators. Baron de Heming, Lieutenant Colonel of the Regiment of Fr. Wirtemberg, is gone with an Engineer to regulate the Limits of the Place of Congreſs to the Circuit of two Leagues; wherein, for the better Security of the Negociators, it will not be permitted to commit any Act of Hoſtility on either Side, and none muſt paſs out of thoſe Limits without a Paſsport.

Vienna, May 21. We have received Letters from Count Colyers, which ſay, that the great Arſenal for Shipping at Conſtantinople is intirely conſum'd by Fire, with all that was within it, and a prodigious Quantity of Timber fit for ſhipping, which had been collected in from abroad. 'Tis not ſaid by what Accident this Fire happen'd, but the Baſſa who had the Care of the Arſenal was ſtrangled immediately, altho' it is generally believ'd he was perfectly innocent. This Misfortune makes the People clamour more than ever for Peace, being perſwaded that Heaven is angry with them for having undertaken an unjuſt War againſt the Emperour; and it alſo very much breaks the Meaſures the Turks had taken againſt the Venetians. The Loſs is judg'd to amount to many Millions.

From the Hague Courant, dated June 3.

Our Court ſeems to be ſteady in their Reſolution to cauſe Count Merci to attack Nicopolis, by the taking whereof, Widin muſt fall of Courſe.

Copenhagen, May 28. On Wedneſday came hither the Britiſh Squadron of 12 Men of War, which all lie in the Road.
